An extraordinary cross-cultural pilgrimage inspired by the timeless spirit of the Native Americans and the Aboriginal Peoples of Australia featuring flutes and Didgeridoos. 10 MP3 Songs

WORLD: Native American, WORLD: Australian Details: This haunting and mesmerizing recording will carry you away on wings of eagles to a place of timeless beauty that seems to embrace the ancient wisdom of the indigenous world. In honor of those people who found peace with themselves, their neighbors and the planet upon which they walked, we offer this extraordinary cross-cultural musical pilgrimage that draws its inspiration from the timeless spirit of the Native American Indians and the Aboriginal Peoples of Australia. Both of these cultures celebrated a reverence for life and a close and harmonious relationship with the earth that delivers a timeless message of courage and hope to the beleaguered and so-called "civilized" world.

D A V I D B L O N S K I The musical and environmental recordings of David Blonski offer an enchanting view of nature and the multicultural diversity of the world. By layering and orchestrating the multitude of instruments he plays, David creates a unique sonic tapestry unlike any other. In addition to his musical interpretations of the peaceful and joyful moods evoked by the natural wonders of our planet, David also tries to celebrate our rich multi-cultural diversity. His current interest lies with our more primitive cultural heritage and he is currently exploring the use of the Aboriginal Didjeridoo and other world instruments.

MUSICAL BACKGROUND As with most musicians David heard "the calling" at a very young age. He began singing in his elementary school chorus and church choir. In junior high school he played clarinet, bass clarinet and oboe in the school band. When David entered high school and college he turned his attention towards the sciences where he earned a Bachelor of Science Degree in Marine Biology. Outside of class, he learned to play guitar but it wasn't until his later college years that he would pick up the flute, by happy accident, and begin his current love affair with music. Currently, David's music is being strongly influenced by his fascination with primitive instruments, most notably the Didjeridoo, Native American Indian Flute and world percussion instruments. David recorded his first album "Timeless Flight" in 1983 with Ed Van Fleet of Synchestra. With that recording David knew that he had truly found himself. Today David plays his own brand of cross-cultural, environmental music in a very freeform and spontaneous way. He has become a superior musician, a prolific composer, a meticulous producer and recording engineer. And if that's not enough..... he's a marvelous artist and craftsman who hand makes several types of folk and world instruments including the Windsong Flute, Pennywhistle and Piccolo as well as replicas of Native American Indian Flutes and the Australian Aboriginal Didjeridoo. These instruments can be purchased from David by contacting Timeless Productions and information is available on line at the Web Site listed below. David also has 25 years experience as a jewelry designer and is a Certified Massage Therapist and Tai Chi Chih Instructor. In addition to the 12 CDs that David has recorded of his own work, David has joined a 5 member world fusion ensemble based in Reno, Nevada called Pangaea Percussion and Winds. Their first CD together has now been released and is titled, Everything Spins. David also shares his love of music by performing and giving presentations on the Didjeridoo and other world instruments at schools in the Northern California area. He is also available to other school districts nationwide. Check our web site for more information. David currently lives in Garden Valley, California with his wife, Nina, and their two boys, Casey and Brian. The area is appropriately named and is the perfect setting for his special style of music. David runs his own production company and music label called Timeless Productions and his private studio is just a few steps out the back door so he is nearly always ready when inspiration strikes.
