Expressive and observational folk title guitar-playing with poetical lyrics to make moods that rank from the offbeat and off-kilter to the lush and cinematographic. 13 MP3 Songs FOLK: Folk Pop, POP: Folky Pop

Pentimento Songs Details: ANAMUDE is a San Francisco based songwriter who combines expressive and observational guitar-playing with poetical lyrics to make moods that rank from the quirky and off-kilter to the lush and cinematographic. Bridging influences from classical, country blues, folk and pop music, ANAMUDE's music is uncompromisingly unique. Her music has been compared to Laurie Anderson, Kristen Hersh, Cat Power and M. Ward. Others have described ANAMUDE's music as "guitar folk pop that temptingly hints at a shy PJ Harvey playing from John Fahey's songbook." (Losing Today, September 2003) The follow-up project to "Urban Comfort" EP and her first full-length record, "Pentimento", was recorded with Adam Selzer at Type Foundry in Portland, Oregon in January 2004. The new record features instrumentation by members of Portland bands Norfolk Western and Tracker. "Pentimento" is now available in this limited, first-edition run of 1,000 artist-signed, hand-packaged copies. The cover illustration was done by Nate Williams. anamude.com
