14 groovy, literate pop tunes; imagine ryan adams and freeddy johnston by way of leonard cohen. 14 MP3 Songs FOLK: Folk Pop, ROCK: Acoustic Details: Born in Ohio, Chris Belden grew up listening to records bought by his parents 5 older siblings, everything from the Beatles the Monkees to Allan Sherman the soundtrack to "The Magnificent Seven." For a long time he played the drums, including a stint in Joe Henry's band (that's him playing on Joe's debut album, "Talk of Heaven"), plus years playing in bars around Detroit NYC. Years went by. Chris wrote a novel ("Squirt"--find it at amazon.com!), a screenplay ("Amnesia", starring Ally Sheedy), a slew of plays. Now he's recorded "Songs About Anything," 14 pop tunes refined in performance at various NYC venues, featuring such groovy players as pianist John Hegner, drummer Aaron Comess (of the Spin Doctors!) bassist Paul Aston. "This is a song about anything/I could be wrong, but there are no right answers. . ."
