Automated trading with advisors today is very popular among traders of different levels. There are several reasons. Expert Advisors are impartial . They sell strictly by defined algorithm and are not affected by human emotions. Their presence in the market can be non-stop, and they do not get tired. They are able to work on graphs of small size, fast response to small changes of the market and often take profits in small portions. While the advisor works and earns you are busy with your affairs. But to be so, it must be a well-written advisor, that has proven its effectiveness in practice. Today there are many offers , but to find a good advisor is not so simple. What makes a good advisor you may ask? It must be effective. It must earn. It is desirable that it could make profit every day. This creates a pleasant feeling of daily progress. It must be safe, have a competent money management. Use a small percentage of your deposit in every transaction. Not use the dangerous principle of the Martingale. Have a unique ability to open and close trades, put stop losses. Work with the trend. It must be resistant to sudden changes in market conditions. It must not be very sensitive to deviations from the optimal settings. In addition, there must not be significant differences between backtesting results and real live market results. All these qualities are inherent in "Joker EA".
