Original contemporary folk music which reflects a strong pop influence. The music is centered on strong vocals and acoustic guitar work. 14 MP3 Songs FOLK: Folk Pop, FOLK: Power-folk Details: Bill Hall is a singer/songwriter who records and performs original contemporary folk music for Late Cretaceous Productions. A wide range of styles and forms influence Bill's musical direction. "I am a folk singer, but to my way of thinking folk music covers a lot of ground. My earliest influences were rocker Jerry Lee Lewis and the Great Canadian artist Gordon Lightfoot. That is quite a contrast on the surface, but it all comes around in the end, as anyone who has ever heard Jerry's great version of Gord's "Early Morning Rain" will attest to". Other early influences were Kenny Rankin, Glen Campbell, John Hartford and Jimmy Webb. Among the many other artists that Bill admires are Dave Mallett, Leo Kottke, Smashing Pumpkins, Travis, Sunny Day Real Estate, Susan Werner, Greg Brown, Luka Bloom, Earl Klugh and Harvey Reid. Bill's new CD-R, titled "It's written on the face of the moon" contains 14 original songs. Bill's recordings are arranged for the most part around his vocals and acoustic guitars (A Martin D-35 steel string and a Guild MK-VI classical). Bill's brother Tom Hall plays bass guitar and/or harmonica on 5 of the tracks. You can contact Bill at: billhall@billhall.us. Album cover art: By Steven Hall.(Copyright Steven Hall 2002)
