Adult Alternative, in the likes of John Mayer, Matchbox 20 and Goo-goo Dolls meet Smashing Pumpkins and third eye blind 6 MP3 Songs ROCK: Modern Rock, POP: Power Pop Details: Clips from a review by Ryan T. White of MusicShopper.com: "...hard to doubt that Christopher Michael would be getting equal radio-play with bands like Matchbox 20, The Goo Goo Dolls, and Lifehouse on Adult Alternative radio."

"The album starts off with "Help Me Now", which premieres Christopher's pop voice, ranging in influences from Johnny Rzeznik (Goo Goo Dolls) to David Bazan (Pedro the Lion Whole Ep era). This emotional song of surrender features a solid bass groove, lots of flanged slide guitar, and a great guitar solo used at the end of the bridge to create a climatic moment to briefly resolve from when going back to the chorus.

"Wide Awake" ... is the best song overall on the album..." "...The ringing guitar notes and blues licks make this song the strongest by supporting the melodic flow of the vocal and the drums get more of a cardio on this song than on any other song on the album. Both of this tracks center on the acoustic guitar and vocals that are radio-friendly."  Clips from a review by

Holly Day, Musicdish.com: "Christopher Michael's first solo CD, "Visions," reflects his varied influences, mixed with a grittier and more powerful type of pop rock and even a little garage rock. The songs are loaded with cool guitar hooks, a monstrously melodic bass, and an adrenaline-charged percussion, so raw and wonderfully tense that it's as though the performers are on the brink of exploding."
