"More and More People Are Facing The Prospect Of Foreclosure. Do Not Become Another Statistic, Avoid Foreclosure Hell & Get Your Life Back!" Wednesday, September 14, 2011 Dear Friend, Chances are that you, like other people, are aware of the problems in the real estate market. Foreclosures are at a record high. You may even have been suffering from foreclosure fever a little yourself. Perhaps you have a loan with an adjustable rate that has gone up sky high? If that's the case, then you may be struggling to make your mortgage payments and wondering if you will soon be joining the dismal statistics of those who are in foreclosure. In some states, such as California, Florida and Nevada, foreclosures run into the hundreds of thousands. Perhaps you recently lost your job and are having a hard time finding another job. The unemployment rate has been sky high lately. If you are one of the unlucky people who has found themselves out of work and is now struggling to make the mortgage payments, you may be worried about foreclosure and looking for ways to avoid foreclosure. Or perhaps you are one of the folks who was preyed upon by lenders who wanted to give you a loan that you really couldn't afford but took after some smooth talking. Now the rate of the loan has gone up and you are scrambling to try to make the

payments. Like you, I struggled to pay my mortgage. I had a loan that was an adjustable rate mortgage and then I lost my job. It was a double whammy and I was really wondering how I was going to get out of going into foreclosure. I spent a lot of time researching the matter and come up with some ways that managed to keep me in my house. When I combined the tips together, I ended up realizing that I was able to stay in my house. I vowed right then and there that if I managed to stave off foreclosure, I would share my tips with others. Well, a year has come and gone and I am still in my home. My mortgage is no longer a problem for me to pay and I am about to make good on my promise and share my tips on how to avoid foreclosure. Now you, too, can stop foreclosure from happening to you.... Sound too good to be true? It's Not! Suppose I told you that you can stop foreclosure from happening to you? Suppose I were to tell you that there are ways that you can not only stall foreclosure but also keep it away from you and make your life better? Would you believe me? There are ways that you can eliminate the threat of foreclosure from impeding on your life. If you are looking for a way to keep your home and not have to turn it over to the bank, then this book will give you all the tips that will keep the roof over your head and out of the hands of the bank. Avoid Foreclosure Hell! The past couple of years have been very tough for homeowners as foreclosures have reached an all time high. Many people have been losing their homes. All across the United States, there are empty houses that are for sale for a lot less than market value. And as the number of foreclosures increase, the housing market continues to suffer. And this seems to be the tip of the iceberg. It looks as if more foreclosures are on the rise. Some of the people who have read my book have been kind enough to write to me to give me feedback on how the book has helped them. They include the following: A 42 year old single mom from Chicago wrote and said that she was at her wit's end with her mortgage and she thought for sure that she would end up losing her house until she read this book. She used the tips to save her home. A 60 year old couple from Columbus, Ohio said that they took the tips in this book to heart and ended up saving the home that they raised their children in. A 51 year old man who was "downsized" at work and didn't know what to do until retirement thought he would lose his house for certain until he read this book. Now he is not having any trouble keeping the roof over his head. Those are just a few of the stories of the people who have read my book and followed the tips that are in the book to save their houses. These were ordinary people who took the information to heart and ended up saving their homes.
