An 80s take on 60s rock 8 MP3 Songs ROCK: 60's Rock, ROCK: 80's Rock Details: My first professional performance was with my first band "The Outsiders" at the Steve Paul Scene nightclub in New York City, the fall of 1964. I was sixteen years old. The band had already recorded two songs at Mirror Sound for a couple of writers from the infamous Brill Building. Soon after we signed with Audio Fidelity Records. Over the next few years I continued to perform in NYC clubs, The El Mio, Ondine's, The Phone Booth, Arthur's, The Bitter End and The Salvation to name a few. In 1966 after a four month tour in Quebec with French Canadian rock star Tony Roman I came home to NYC and met the band "The Left Banke". They had just recorded "Walk Away Rene" and were looking for a guitarist to join the band. I didn't join the band but maintained a professional and personal relationship with some of the band members until today. The Left Banke lead singer Steve Martin Caro co-wrote and sings lead on track 1 and 4 and sings harmony vocal on track 8. The Left Banke drummer George Cameron plays on track 5, 6, and 8. These five songs were recorded between 1978 and 1979. Reginald Ward sings lead on Track 5. Regie and I performed in a four piece band called The Silver Byke with John Platania and Mike Nelson between 1967-1970. We recorded three songs for Bang Records. In 1988 I co-wrote a song with Michel Pagliaro titled Dangereux. The song went to the top of the French Canadian charts. At that point in time music had taken a back seat to new ventures. But now it's back, like a long lost friend who has found its way home. To be continued: Charly Cazalet
