Details: With the eye of a short-story writer, Abilene, Texas born,(Austin based) Nathan Hamilton pens songs sharp with detail and rich in imagery to create rugged slices of timeless and articulate Americana. Vocally he brings to mind a slightly more ragged Lyle Lovett, which fits well with his muscular songs. His eye for detail and vivid images is similar to the late Townes Van Zandt. Hamilton proves adept whether handling quiet folk numbers or gritty, growling rock. Hamilton has established himself as one of Texas' best singer/songwriters. And in a state filled with great singer/songwriters, that is quite an accomplishment.
