O-shen's album "Faya", recorded in Papua Niugini, shows his versatility with different dialects and a unique sound. His music is reflected directly from his pacific upbringing and his strong leadership qualities. 15 MP3 Songs WORLD: Reggae, WORLD: Island Details: O-shen's musical career began in the South Pacific nation of PNG. ----- His first album was released into the PNG market in mid 1997. Although the record was only intended to be a demo, it's uniqueness won nationwide recognition and resulted in O-shens local fame. He was the first PNG artist to rap in the local language and that made a big impact on the island music scene. Widely supported by the public, O-shen became somewhat of a musical ambassador for Papua New Guinea. O-shens first release was only marketed in PNG and other Melanesian island countries.

----- In 2000 O-shen broke into the Hawaii music scene with his release, self titled, Iron Youth. O-shen's blend of reggae, hip-hop, and contemporary sound won the prestige's 2001 Na Hoku hanohano award for Hawaii reggae album of the year. The Iron Youth album was a hit throughout many island countries, and helped establish O-shen's music throughout the Pacific. ----- After some touring in the Pacific,

O-shen released the album Rascal in Paradise which also gained popularity throughout the islands. Throw away the Gun is a song on the album Rascal in Paradise which was used in a major motion picture Fifty first Dates. ----- O-shen's song Free Island People was a featured song on the GRAMMY nominated Island Warriors compilation. This compilation featured local Hawaiian Reggae artists. -----

O-shen's album Kanaka Pacifica just released in Papua New Guinea and went number one on the local charts and radio stations in PNG. "Kanaka Pacifica" will be available in Hawaii in late 2004. "Kanaka Pacifica" was recorded with the legendary Supasound Crew.

----- O-shen's newest album project titled Rising Son was released. Rising Son shows off O-shen's versatility with his music and sends a strong message through his conscious lyrics. A pacific and possibly a world tour is in the planning for 2006 to spread the music and the message. ----- "When the streets meet the jungle Faya is born!" "Faya!" is O-shen's latest release that was recorded in Papua Niugini. Once again O-shen incorporates a variety of languages and culture within many new and original songs.
