Misspelled Keyword Generator Some competitive keyphrases can be tough to rank highly for, however did you know there is over 10 Million searches per day where the user incorrectly spells their search term? What this means is there's a huge volume of visitors to be had by intentionally placed misspellings in your website for popular search terms. Using this tactic can see you rank number 1 and receive hundreds of visitors per day. If you were trying to rank for the correct spelling, it may see you come in at page 5 and beyond where rarely anybody ventures resulting in no traffic. So, we are making the Misspelled Keyword Generator software available for pennies for you to download to give you a chance to snare some of that traffic. This isn't a script but rather a software tool for Windows, and it's simple to generate misspelled keywords. Just input the correct spelling of a popular keyphrase, hit the generate button and it produces usually hundreds of variations of your chosen keyword or keyphrase. Then you just create a webpage or modify your existing page to include a few of the misspelled keywords. The search engines will index the page, and the next time a user misspells the term when searching, the search engine's keyphrase matching algorithm will place you a lot higher for the exact phrase then it will
