SINGER-SONGWRITER.COM "Ran's music is like Cupid's arrow aimed at the heart of the incurable romantic. Bullseye!" "REMEMBER ROMANCE" is filled with all of the love and passion and tenderness that one would expect from a CD which dares to include the word romance in its title. Emotions soar, sparks fly, senses are awakened, pulses pound and intense passions are aroused in the love songs of singer/songwriter Ran Birkins, a master of the story-song. Why wait until Valentine's Day to be romantic when romance can be a wonderful part of your life every single day? In "REMEMBER ROMANCE," Ran presents a love story in three acts: The Courtship, The Wedding and The Reception. The songs in each act focus on that particular phase of the developing romance, from the moment of initial attraction, to the discovery of how well-matched you are, to the first imaginings of spending your lives together, to the day you actually become husband and wife. There are no sad songs here about broken hearts or troubled relationships, only happy and victorious "story" songs that celebrate the joy and fulfillment of a beautiful love. "I'm The One" is the first track of The Courtship section - hasn't everyone dreamed that one day the PERFECT person for you would say to you, "I'm the one who loves the things you love, who thinks just like you; my passions are the perfect match for the fires that rage in you! Baby, I'm the one!" Here are just a few other wonderfully romantic thoughts from "REMEMBER ROMANCE:" In "One Tomorrow," Ran sings "I would gladly trade all my yesterdays just to have one tomorrow with you."

Ran asks these musical questions in the chorus of "Only Always:" "How long have I been in love with you? Only always! When do I fall more in love with you? More every day! And the love-spell's only getting worse; rendered helpless by some Cupid curse! How long will I be in love with you, darling? I'll love you only always!" Ran's popular wedding song "With This Ring," first released in 1999 on the CD "SHORT STORIES," is included in The Wedding Ceremony scenes of "REMEMBER ROMANCE." "With This Ring" has been used in hundreds of weddings and receptions all over the country. In addition to "With This Ring," "REMEMBER ROMANCE" introduces 3 brand new wedding songs that Ran specifically wrote for use in ceremonies and receptions. "The Second of September" is for the groom to sing at the wedding ceremony, "This Daddy's Little Girl" is for the 'Bride and Her Father' dance at the reception, and "Now We're Dancing" is for the 'Groom and His Mother' dance. In his own tribute to the heroes of the 9/11 terrorist attacks, Ran has included his patriotic song "One Nation Under God" as a bonus track on "REMEMBER ROMANCE." "One Nation Under God" has also been used as a rallying cry by those who support a constitutional amendment to keep the phrase 'one nation, under God' in the Pledge of Allegiance. The US Supreme Court is now considering an appeal of a decision by a California court that ruled the phrase unconstitutional. "One Nation Under God" features guest vocalist Jeannine Flores. The complete lyrics to all of the songs on "REMEMBER ROMANCE" can be viewed at the Ran's website, UntamedHeart.com, and piano sheet music and accompaniment tracks may also be ordered. The website also contains information about booking Ran Birkins to perform at events or commissioning the writing of a song.
