As a child growing up in Harlem, Songwriter, arranger, and vocalist Barr has infused a fresh R&B sound for the masses 10 MP3 Songs URBAN/R&B: Rhythm Blues, URBAN/R&B: Contemporary urban Details:

As a child growing up in Harlem, my biggest dream was to become a performer. I have been Blessed to have a Mother and Father who have supported my musical endeavors since the age of five. My parents also instilled in me the strength and the moral values to succeed as I go forward on this musical journey. I began taking piano lessons under the direction of my Father at the age of 4 years old. I later continued my studies at the Harlem School of the Arts. This is where my love of music truly began to blossom. I also attended the Choir Academy of Harlem where in 2005 I graduated Salutatorian. At the academy I maintained a 3.7 GPA throughout my High School years. I was also a member of the Boys Choir of Harlem starting as a soprano, then an alto, and currently a tenor. I was fortunate enough to perform several solos in the choir, plus work as an assistant choreographer for the Choir. Since my years as a member of the Choir Academy/Boys Choir of Harlem I have had the privilege of performing and/or recording with many world renown artists, such as: Stevie Wonder, Aretha Franklin, Natalie Cole, Regina Bell, Lionel Richie, P. Diddy, Destinys, Mary J. Blige, LL Cool J, Vanessa Williams, Queen Latifah, Mariah Carey, Brian Mcknight, Mase, Kanye West, the movie Glory soundtrack and Pepsi. Also notables/humanitarians such as: President Bush, President Clinton, Mayor Bloomberg, Mayor Giulliani, Mayor David Dinkins, Congressman Charles Rangel, Honorable Nelson Mandela, Pope John Paul II, Cantor Fitzgerald, Lockheed Martin , Greater New Entertainment, Ossie Davis Ruby Dee, John Travolta, Lena Horne, Carmen Delavalade, Steven Spielberg, Martin Scorsese, Vienna Boys Choir, Vienna Philharmonic, Boston symphony Orchestra, New York Philharmonic, Seiji Ozawa, Kurt Masur, John Williams, Yo-Yo Ma, Placido Domingo, Luciano Pavarotti, and Jessye Norman. Also as a member of the Choir, I have had the opportunity to partake in other programs relevant to music. One of note was the prestigious program at The Boston University Tanglewood Institute where I attended for two consecutive summers on a scholarship. Throughout my tenure with the Choir I have traveled the fifty states, plus Holland, Israel, Japan, Vienna, Canada, Puerto Rico and Turkey. I have met so many people and seen so many interesting sights that have enriched my life and made me a well-rounded person. Currently I am a sophomore at Lincoln University (the first HBCU in the Country) in Lancaster, Pennsylvania. I have a concentration in Music Education with a minor in Business Management. I have been recording on a solo level for two years and have completed a compilation of several songs, many of which I have written, some of which I co-wrote and produced with others. I am a singer, songwriter, vocal arranger pianist, dancer and actor pursuing my childhood dream.
