The band was formed with members Chang Imlach (keyboards / vocals), David Kellogg (lead guitar), Danard Anderson (drums / percussion), and Jammie Cartwright (lead vocals / percussion). The Courage Band's music is made up of many different musical styles combined artistically to create a unique and catchy sound. Their music is designed to stimulate people of all ages and transcend all boundaries. The message they convey through their music is to increase an awareness of social issues and spread positive vibes through fun-loving and exciting music. They play a mixture of original and cover songs influenced by Caribbean pop, Calypso, Dancehall, Junkanoo, Reggae, Soca, and U.S. pop styles. The Courage Band puts on a show with youthful and diverse good looks. They love to perform and dance together on stage and it shows. The Courage Band first started entertaining people at Georgia's Sports Bar, and later moved on to play the local Bahamian music scene at places such as Willie's Tavern, Vic-Hum Club, Seagrapes, and Gusty's, etc. In 1995, the band ventured to Minneapolis, Minnesota, to commence a Midwest tour. They played the Minneapolis music scene performing at Glam Slam, the Fine Line Cafe, The Quest, Five Corners, The Cabooze, and other clubs throughout Chicago, Des Moines, Madeline Island, Madison, Appleton, Rockford, Hillsdale, and other cities. Everyone who heard the music became fans and all the clubs wanted them back. Some of the band's highlights are opening up for Shela E, performing at a Bob Marley benefit concert in Iowa, becoming friends and jamming with Lenny Kravitz, Edwin McCain, Mick Jones, and playing for the BaHa Men concert and jamming with many other local artists. Courage Band was also the opening act at the Caribbean Music Expo held in Ocho Rios, Jamaica
