Having toured the Northwest successfully, playing more than 250 shows a year for the past five years, Frame Of Mind is quickly climbing their way up the list of the must see modern day traveling rock bands. Frame Of Mind's music is enjoyed by people of all ages. Their love of traveling, meeting new people, and seeing new places is a part of why the band has been successful, and able to endure the test of time. Artists: Josh Scott - Vocals, Keys, Harmonica, Flute, Saxophone, Percussion, Acoustic Guitar. Obie Scott - Vocals, Lead Rhythm Guitar, Bass, Percussion. Nimai Pickup - Vocals, Bass, Guitar, Percussion. Ryan Russell - Drums Percussion, Didgeridoo. More than just a band, Frame of Mind is a concept whose very limits cannot be defined, infusing elements from a wide variety of styles and influences including funk, rock, reggae, Latin, jazz fusion, psychedelic, blues and more. This all makes for a live musical experience that is widely dynamic and diverse, danceable yet complex; their eclectic sound is best appreciated in their live shows, extended musical excursions that explore the very essence of live performance. This year the band has went through some changes, after the release of the newest album 'Good Medicine' our long time friend and drummer; Bruce Maurey quit the band for personal reasons. But, it's all good, at that same time another longtime friend came to the bands rescue. Ryan Russell, was formally in the band Fung, seems to be a perfect fit for the band, and since his arrival the bands successes has escalated.
