Tabatha Predovich is an internationally starring avant-garde singer/songwriter who originally moved to London with the English group, Elysium. Her next band Radium, in Detroit, fused pop, punk and progressive sensibilities into a new paradigm, resulting in the evocative, hypnotic pieces which were their most compelling work. His words - her songs - their collaboration, a book/cd entitled Invisible Jazz, melds ancient Alexandria, medieval Paris, Neo-Platonism and baseball in a lyrical crucible fired by love and war and the mystical vision.. It includes poems and songs in English and French, with translations from Francois Villon and an erotic hymn out of the Chenoboskian manuscript. Published by Musical Comedy Editions, Drummer Vid Gullickson, Rich Patterson on guitar and Lynette Reini-Grandell on violin, and French vocalist Erin Muir round out the ensemble.
