The Paul Beebe Band is the creation of Paul Beebe, a self-taught musician who has played in reggae, alternative, and jazz bands, as well as winning awards for classical composition. His love for all styles of music carries over into the mix with a skillfully crafted blend of genres that seem to have always co-existed. This is the second album from The Paul Beebe Band, after the debut of These Things in February 2006. Paul Beebe is a prolific writer and is thought of as the mad scientist by many musician friends and allies that know and work with him. Paul Beebe also records and writes music for many other Arizona bands as well. The Ragaman Roll: Love and Death has been described as a killer CD by another Paul Beebe Band fan and is well worth a listen to.
