Dave Tate - Biography "He possesses the special kind of talent you only see come along once a decennium. If you're lucky." - Eric van Domburg Scipio of Heaven Magazine Dave Tate's dynamic contemporary folk songwriting combines intimate finger-picked acoustic guitar, passionate vocals, and a myriad of poetic imagery to show how strong quiet can be. For the past ten years Dave Tate has been performing throughout the western states. A native of the red rock desert of Zion National Park, UT Tate's music reflects the natural vast beauty of his homeland. Tate started out playing in groups in Utah and Arizona doubling as a frontman on guitar and as a bassist. In 2000 Tate moved to Salt Lake City, UT where he began performing as a solo artist. After establishing a strong presence in the Salt Lake music scene, and recording two records. Tate turned his attention back to developing his craft and began studying classical voice. Over the next three years Tate held leading roles in several operas developing the range of his instrument. During that time Tate recorded four records, only one of which was released. Tate's persistence in refining his craft paid off. In 2006 Tate released The Solitude of Here, which CDBaby called By far the most grabbing male folk album we've seen in months. The album also received stunning press from the Netherlands. Folk Forum raved, This masterpiece is worthy of a place in the singer/songwriter Hall of Fame, and You rarely come across a CD of such exquisite quality that you are entirely enthralled by it. Encouraged by increasing interest, Tate uprooted moving to Portland, Oregon, where he finished his second self produced solo LP Home is in the Stars. Tate then returned to Salt Lake City as a solo artist, the front man of the group Dave Tate Music and in an acoustic duo. Tate built on the foundation he had started and once again established himself as a performing artist. In January of 2007 Tate met Swedish songwriter Victoria Lagerstrm. Soon after meeting the two were married, recorded their first duo record The Same Heart (2007) and began to perform as a duo in the US. After living in Austin, Texas in 2007 and embarking on a successful tour to the Netherlands, the duo returned to Tate's southern Utah home to write and record their next duo CD. Tate and Lagerstrm now perform locally in Utah as well as touring nationally. davatatemusic.myspace.com/davatatemusic People who are interested in James Taylor Sting Paul Simon should consider this download.
