URBAN/R&B: Urban, URBAN/R&B: Neo-Soul Details: BIO: b. Needles, California, USA. Brought up the youngest of three boys in a single parent household, it was clear that Sincere was a performer at heart. At the young age of four, he began singing and entertaining family members at family events. Just a few years later, he was entering oratorical contests displaying his love for poetry and the stage with back-to-back regional victories. In the years to follow, his family began moving around from state to state, never staying in one area for longer than two years. As a result of this, Sincere was not able to keep many friends, so he found friendship in a box, a boom box. In the sixth grade, he began playing the trumpet and gradually moved on to a variety of instruments including piano. He also joined his schools choir where he found his natural instrument, his voice. At the age of sixteen, Sincere left his household to return to his true home, Los Angeles, California. With no family in a new city, he turned to the streets for family acceptance. After facing constant opposition, Sincere realized that his current lifestyle was leading nowhere, so he separated himself from everyone in hopes of finding who he really was. During this time, he realized that with music was where he truly yearned to be and that through his music he could affect so many, and so the vision began. Determined to pursue his dream, in 2001 after a chance meeting with another artist, Sincere adopted his stage name as a result of his sincere love and dedication to people as well as music. After the tragic death of his grandfather, Sincere decided to take his love for music to the next level, founding his own independent record label titled A.G. Records. After going through some trial and error with different artist, Sincere realized that if you want something done right, you've got to do it yourself. So he decided to take his love for music to an even higher level and become the first artist to release an album on his own record label, thus juggling the roles of C.E.O. and artist. In 2005, after finding his wonder staff, Sincere began construction of his first album rightfully entitled Sincerely Yours which is primarily written, produced and arranged by him. And with musical influences such as Marvin Gaye, Stevie Wonder and Brian Mcknight it is easy to see where he gets his old school soulful sound. People who are interested in should consider this download.
