This CD is hyper-creative, smart, fun songwriting, delivered in a charming lo-fi recording. 20 MP3 Songs

POP: Quirky, POP: with Electronic Production Details: Who Wants To Lead The Band is "a comically charged, dynamic album that is bursting with creativity and energy." "...the lyrics can be on the goofy side (pleasantly so, for the most part), the music is almost always catchy - sometimes surprisingly beautiful..."

- Tom Sanlon / Seattle Times / March/12/2004 March 3, 2004 (Seattle, Washington)- Timothy Young and Paul Moore have released "Who Wants To Lead The Band?" a new collection on CD. The recordings on Who Wants To Lead The Band were not originally intended to be released to the public. Like all of their previous demos, these recordings were made for Mr. Moore and Mr. Young's own private research benefits. But the people demand to hear these recordings. So, Mr. Moore and Mr. Young have agreed to release them. Recorded in a Seattle apartment with a $20 mic and an old cassette 4-track. Working fast on the theme "people", Mr. Moore and Mr. Young spent no more than an hour to write and record each song. Most tracks are live first takes (no edits or overdubs). Moore and Young's voices sound quirky, naked, vulnerable.
