Ask any experienced marketer and they will tell you that the most important thing that you can ever do when you are building ANY kind of online business is to CREATE EMAIL MAILING LISTS. That is why I wrote an entire book dedicated to the topic. After my own miserable failures when it came to trying to put together a lucrative email opt-in list for my own customers, I realized that there had to be better ways to put these lists together. The mailing list is essential! It is an absolute must-have item if you are going to BUILD YOUR BUSINESS at the same time. No matter what kind of online business you are running, it is important to comprehend that there is a vast difference between making money online and building your business. And in order for a mailing list to work for you it must be completely focused. For example, many people who decide that they want to earn an income from the internet don't really have a business plan. They are fly by night affiliate marketers or online businesses that try to make money online by featuring paid advertising on a webpage. Both types of internet marketing result in the marketer concerned making money, but as they do so they are not necessarily being attentive to the idea of building their business at the same time. At the very heart of the business building concept is the ability to collect information from internet users who can take a specific action to give you permission to send them additional information in the future. In this case the specific action that you must ask of each and EVERY single visitor to your site is to subscribe to your emailing list.
