Sonic landscapes taking you on adventure of sound through the minds eye of your soul. With flavors of modern electronic rhythms, ambient textures, age old chants, instruments from around the world, and a calming dose of tranquility to soothe your mind. 7 MP3 Songs ELECTRONIC: Trance, ELECTRONIC: Ambient Details: This creation came about as an experiment following the completion of my first CD "Fused". I was in a very laid back mood and at that moment was very fascinated with the concept of sonic textures/sonic landscapes. I found myself being intrigued with instruments from around the world as well as modern rhythms (Trance) and tribal rhythms. Of course it didn't stop there because I was also fascinated with the concept of chanting and monks. So I started creating this CD for my amusement and soon it started to take shape and before I knew it I had completed a CD. I didn't give it much credence since it was something I was creating for me but I decided to play it for a few people and much to my surprise I received an overwhelmingly positive response. People started asking me more about it and I also started receiving high accolades for my efforts. I decided to push forward and complete this project and before I knew it everything fell in to place and I had another creation to present to the public. I hope you enjoy my music and I'd really like to hear your thoughts about my music.
