Details: Just in Time for Summer, Colombian Crooner Marino Luis Drops Scorching Follow Up Salsa CD "NAME OF ALBUM" Following the success of his debut record, veteran salsa singer Marino Luis releases his latest solo album "Viento En Popa" to the delight of salsa fanatics worldwide. In addition to the enthusiastic and flavorful salsa music Luis is known for, "Viento En Popa" incorporates skillfully written ballads and uptempo bachata selections, giving listeners a vertible taste of the tropics. ACUARIO PRODUCTIONS April 30, 2009 -- Although he's an established figure on the salsa scene in his native Colombia, music artist Marino Luis sheds his sophomore skin with the recent international release of his second solo album "Viento En Popa." A seasoned follow up to his solo debut, Luis' latest record fuses the distinct beats, rhythms, and sounds that characterize music from Colombia's Pacific coast. From Buenaventura, Colombia to Washington, DC to Barcelona, Spain, Luis has carved out a strong following throughout the world of salsa music. His entrance into the solo spotlight was marked by the release of 'A la Medida' in 2006. Viento en Popa uses concepts from 'A la Medida' as well as contemporary creativity as heard in 'Obama: El Cambio,' "Ella Es,' and other musical chronicles of daily life. A true master of love songs, Luis provides listeners with heart-touching melodies and sensual ballads in Angel de la Guarda, Mi Felicidad. And as co-writer on the album, Luis' talent as an artist is matched only by his skill as a songwriter. From heartbreak to first love, Viento en Popa is a well-rounded journey into the musical world of Marino Luis.
