MP3 Songs NEW AGE: New Age, NEW AGE: Ambient Details: Silverio F. Da Silva "Composer"
Composer Silverio F. Da Silva has a rich and unique musical history. Born in Sao Paulo, Brazil, he grew up playing the drums and began studying music by the age of fourteen. Surrounded by the rhythms and melodies of his country's most famous composers like Antonio Carlos Jobim, Gilberto Gil, Milton Nascimento and others, Da Silva immersed himself in music studying at the Music Academy of Sao Paulo. He then moved to the United States attending the Berklee College of Music in Boston and the Music and Arts Institute in San Francisco. It didn't take long for Da Silva to find work both as a recording musician and performer in bands that played jazz, rock, and his native Brazilian music. Eventually, he turned his sights to composing for television and film. From post-production recording and directing voice-over talents to mixing audio for films, composing original music for TV as well as audio book projects, Silverio Da Silva talents are far reaching. Most recently, he's been working as an independent producer, writing music for films, documentaries and commercials. Da Silva's music fuses elements from South America, Europe, and Africa with a New Age sensibility that is both stunning and soothing. His ambient textures are in a constant state of evolution with plenty of twists and turns and rhythmic jolts to propel each composition to unexpected heights. But mostly it is his talent to give electronic music an almost acoustic true beating heart and soul that is so rare today. His latest CD is dedicated to and titled after his beautiful daughter Marina. To learn more about Silverio Da Silva's music, visit his website: musicforthemusic.com
