HIP HOP/RAP: East Coast, HIP HOP/RAP: Hardcore Rap Details: New York, New York- June 1979 The Crown Prince was born a survivor. Barely surviving birth, The Crown Prince was raised in the Bronx's Co-op City housing development where he began to get into music at an early age. Barely after he was able to talk (at the age of five) due to the circumstances of his birth, he started playing chords on the piano by ear. In 1991 at the age of eleven, he began writing lyrics and in 1996, he became dedicated in his craft. Soon after he began beat making to complement his lyrics. For several years The Crown Prince has been into creating music that is different and captivating to the ear. For the previous six years, he has written and produced over a hundred tracks and eventually concentrated on producing over song writing. Fast forward to April 18th 2002 that started another chapter in his life when his mother had passed on. Dealing with that loss as well as other personal tribulations a new man was born. During a four-month span he began writing, producing and recording at a very prolific pace in which he wrote about his pain and anger in a way that he never expected to do. All he needed in the world was a pen and a pad that he authored his thoughts straight from beginning to end in his music. All the dedication and hard work trying to improve his craft had finally come together overnight. In his songs he touches several topics including the situations around his environment. His work expands from the typical topics in hip-hop in that along with the street anthems such as "Aim For The Sky", "The Mayor", "On The Rise" and "Royal Doctrine", he also spits messages in songs like "Thought My Years", "Spoken Word" and shows his poetic prowess on such songs as "Darkness and the title cut "My Thoughts." Over a yearlong wait from conception to birth of his vision ready to share his life with you and yours. MY THOUGHTS his classic album for you to enjoy.
