Experimental electronic beats blended with accordions, classical guitars and vocals. 10 MP3 Songs POP: with Electronic Production, ELECTRONIC: Experimental Details: Experimental electronic folk music, that's the genre Doug is hoping to coin. His music does not fit easily into other categories. Doug began experimenting with early Roland drum machines when he was a teenager, later moving into the vast world of computer generated music, delightedly manipulating and tweaking audio samples. Although his work is not purely electronic as it blends the sounds of folk and acoustic instruments- accordions, banjos, classical guitars, and voice. These elements are combined in a fashion unique to the singer songwriter world. His lyrical subjects range between love, longing, and the spiritual path. Doug performs regularly in the NYC area.
