I am an observer of a side of life that most don't see and I love to share what I find in my sometimes dark story songs....I welcome you to come along for the ride in my strange keyboard enhanced world..... 10 MP3 Songs ROCK: Goth, POP: New Wave Details: No Head For You Reviews: "Future Lisa sings sometimes in what sounds like a New Jersey accent, and what I guess is some sort of Minnesotan accent, and then in a kind of flat, dead voice that quavers like she's on the verge of a nervous breakdown.....it's so strange it's intriguing; you can't help listening to it over and over again, and making other people listen to it over and over again...."Cosmic Debris Magazine, Holly Day "....To say Lisa's lyrics are inspired would be a gross understatement. Most tracks ooze with multiple levels of meaning, capturing emotions at absolute crest and trough. 'New Girlfriend' celebrates jealousy with rolling, pulsing, mashing cords that mirror the ball of hatred one feels in the pit of their stomach when losing out to someone else (and who hasn't been there?) 'Heart Transplant' explores the pain and self-doubt felt after a break-up. And 'Aren't We The Dead' laments the time-wasting, emotional emptiness of a non-intimate physical relationship..."
