Details: Weeping Willows is a collection of supberbly written Americnana songs filtered through the macabre mind of JB Nelson. Nelson's dark tendencies for songwriting are compounded exponentially by the sound created using antique recordings equipement and haunting sounds ranging from JB's ominous voice to the accompaniment of a saw. Beautiful songs, sung with passion and enthusiams are juxtaposed in the album as it decomposes into the unholy sound of "Blood on the Walls" and "Dead Man's Eyes"
