If you have ever listened to the Art Bell radio talk show on Coast to Coast Radio and heard people tell of their seeing Shadowy creatures standing at their bedside in the middle of the night, that just disappear, hopefully. 15 MP3 Songs EASY LISTENING: Mood Music, ELECTRONIC: Virtual Orchestra Details: I went through four dictionaries looking for Names I could use to label some of my musical creature features. I came up with six pages worth of dark character names and words that when put together describe the very horrible things that can happen when these shadowy figures appear. I listen to the Art Bell Show when the Air Waves allow reception, usually the second recorded airing for the night. I get a little nervous when the callers talk about "Shadow People" I start scanning my bedroom, and my eyes have not adjusted to the light and I have a whole room full of these creatures for a few minutes. If you turn on the lights and the creatures disappear that's GOOD. So far so good... I decided to come up with some music for some of the forgotten spooks, ghouls, and other shadowy characters of our childhood nightmares. Some of them might make good background music for the evening news, the Weather Channel, or one of the many TV shows airing these days. "Scarecrow" has sound effects, it's cute, and for the husbands who have been awakened up by their wives at 2am Yelling "There is a Man in the Closet" You're covered too...
