Since that time, the two musicians have been performing and polishing original music that is a combination of acoustic rock, folk, jazz, bluegrass and alternative country. CR has performed in these Colorado cities: Denver, Longmont, Boulder, Westminster, Greeley, Estes Park, Fort Collins, and Evergreen More information can be found on the web at canyonmusic.info bios Bill Taylor Bill Taylor is a songwriter and a true seeker of the 'next song'. His lyrics and music reflect his own life and also the lives of other people past and present. He tries to demonstrate his own philosophy for living in songs like 'Better Times', 'In My Life' and 'See Me'. Other songs like 'Santa Fe' and 'The Most' are from some of his own experiences. The song 'Borders Crossed'

is a true story of a man and woman from two different countries that eventually married. Taylor has found his own style in acoustic music through endless rehearsals and playing live in front of coffee house and caf audiences. His true love is to perform his original songs and to continue writing new songs for performances and recordings. William Engle William Engle is an accomplished musician in bass guitar, keyboards, classical trombone, and electric and acoustic guitar. He started playing music at a very young age and comes from a long line of musical ancestry. He holds a degree in music (AAS) from Onondaga Community College in Syracuse NY and a Music Business Degree (BBA) from Belmont University in Nashville, Tenn. Having worked in Nashville and the Northeast as a Musician and Major Label Administrator, Engle brings a tremendous amount of experience and musical professionalism to the duo Canyon Ridge.
