A cohesive musical kaleidoscope of ballads, mid and up-tempo rock, pop, and funk fused together into a tightly-woven collage. 12 MP3 Songs POP: Piano, ROCK: Funk Rock Details: Born in Poughkeepsie, NY, and currently residing in nearby Pleasant Valley, multi-talented singer / songwriter / pianist / producer and arranger Matt Delphin showcases his many musical talents on his debut album "Feel The Fever." Delphin graduated from Boston's Berklee College of Music with a degree in Music / Business Management, studying voice with Dale Pfeiffer, and piano with Laszlo Gardony, and his self-produced 12-track debut album is a cohesive musical kaleidoscope of ballads, mid-tempo, and up-tempo rock, pop, and funk fused together into a tightly-woven musical collage. Matt was joined by his dad Jacques Delphin, who collaborated on 6 of the albums 12 songs- and also co-wrote the title track "Feel The Fever," and "When I Say That I Love You." Although Matt's very well rounded musically, its his voice that sets him apart. A strong tenor with a range of over 3 octaves, Matt's crystal clear soaring vocals fly high like an eagle. Its unmistakable. His is a voice that people will easily fall in love with, a voice with his unique style and grace. You too, like everyone else, will be sure to want to add this album to the collection. It will quickly become part of your regular rotation!
