Barbara Wood, Los Angeles Daily News "For Kids who've outgrown the Chipmunks and Joanie Bartels but aren't quite ready for Stone Temple Pilots, 'Land of the Diamond Sun' deserves a listen. Arrangements have a sophistication not often heard in children's music." Deborah Ross, Phoenix Gazette "Words that teach family values are music to parent's ears, and songs may be the way to get children to listen. That's the idea behind a new album, 'Land of the Diamond Sun.'... The focus on values rather than academics is one element that sets 'Land of the Diamond Sun' apart from many other children's records." The ARIZONA SCHOOL BOARD ASSOCIATION JOURNAL

'Land of the Diamond Sun' "a recording of 13 songs that present positive values with up-to-date rhythms and humorous lyrics. The melodies represent a variety of musical genres" National Music Educator's Journal "Land of the Diamond Sun" is an album of 13 refreshing songs for kids, written and produced by veteran songwriters with performers singing the tunes. The uplifting lyrics don't sound contrived because of the topics; adversities typical of children 6-11 include getting mad, doing chores, obeying parents, being different, lying and hitting. The subjects range from the ridiculous to the sublime. Adults will enjoy listening to this album along with their children." The ARIZONA SCHOOL BOARD ASSOCIATION JOURNAL "For children here are 13 delightful songs they can sing along with and learn from. The compositions are humorous, educational, sensitive, compassionate, fun explorations into life and learning to come from a love center when relating to others. This is a wonderful tape for teaching children compassion, understanding and caring in a fun way. Highly recommended for parents and teachers of children 4-12 years old." OMEGA NEW AGE REVIEW
