The line-up now's better than ever. All of the three members are able to play minimum two instruments. And so even in a trio they can create the different styles from 50s Country to Rockabilly and RocknRoll. The boys play well-known songs, obscure late 50s songs, instrumentals and original material. It's also worth to mention the professional harmony singing. The trio toured 13 countries of Europe and 20 states of the US and made a big bunch of fans. Highlights are performances in Hemsby, England and Las Vegas, US. Here is their first longplayer issued on Rhythm Bomb Records. The musicians' skills made it possible to back up Rockabilly legends as Jack Earls, Glenn Honeycutt (Sun Records), Janis Martin (RCA) and Elvis Presley.
