Details: The journey of the Native American Flute became a search for soul and spirit that has led me to find peace and meaning in my life I never knew I could find. This journey has been one of exploration and discovery of worlds and cultures, peoples and places through history and the past into the present and the future. I met Paul at a local flute circle where he and his wife were beginning their journey of the flute. With the creation of the Fort Worth Flute circle, we began to bring alternative instruments into play... and then one night Paul brought his guitar..... the rest is magic. We found that his skill with the guitar and love of the flute led to an innate understanding of where the music should go to support the flute. For myself, it seems as if we can read each other's thoughts as we play, seeming to know what the other is going to do next without question. Everything we play is improvisation from the heart, soul and spirit of the muse that guides us to create a sensual soundscape of peaceful meditation and gentle dance. Come on in and join us in this place of Love, Peace and Soft Winds Blessings. Thank you for exploring my world. Rae
