"You don't know whether to shake your hips or light your pants on fire" "Raspy female vocals keep the NYC sound real, while swinging guitar/bass keep the songs rocking..." "Before you know it, you're addicted" 5 MP3 Songs ROCK: Modern Rock, ROCK: Punk Details: "...they quite simply rock like bastards. Picture a cross between The Pretenders and Joan Jett on one hand ...and Gang of Four on the other... Impressive even at only their second gig, the past six months have seen Go To Town develop a tight set of original material. With recording done at The Walkmen's Marcata Studios, and label showcases in progress, this lot are young-ins to watch out for."-----Joshua Kruter, Rock Feedback "... I listen to so many EPs, that I wish they would give us a little more. Especially when the songs are as appetizing as this 5 song EP. ...Raspy female vocals keep the NYC sound real, while the swinging guitar/bass keep the songs rocking..." - Lio, Crashin' In "...Before you know it, you're addicted and willing to do anything to hear that "Bow Tie Daddy" ditty again. It isn't pure rock, but it's not pure New-Wave-revivalism either...There are musical chops here which should not be messed with, talent which goes beyond mere imitation or riddled with influences. The passion which this band has for what they do comes through to you on their 5-song EP loud and clear. The kicker to this all? GTT was in fact produced by none other than that guru made famous by The Strokes, JP Bowersock. Sly indeed." GTT's EP ranked #8 on Like A Rolling Stone's 'Top of the Pops 10' ----- Sara, Like A Rolling Stone "Go To Town are probably the best band in the world... They play catchy trash-blues rock... the good music just comes naturally... Oh, everyone in this band is so pretty, it's devastating." ----- Sheri Barclay, That's What I Call Hits
