This ensemble of musicians and instruments from around the world adapts the roots of Galician Celtic Music for the celebration of the modern human spirit. 8 MP3 Songs WORLD: Celtic, WORLD: Western European Details: This ensemble of musicians and instruments from around the world comes together for a single purpose - the celebration of the human spirit. Our group starts in the roots of Gaelician Celtic Music. The journey begins with tradition and passes to places modern and futuristic. Ultimately this path lead to the past, a place inside with form and function not dictated by the last millenium, but by the heart of our souls. The Gaita on this recording is handcrafted by Rob himself out of Carbony. To learn more about wind instrument construction out of this unique alternative to wood, check out carbony.com. Several of the didges on this recording were hand crafted by Dan himself, also using alternative materials to cut trees. We aim to keep the planet round and sound! the players: Rob Gndara - Gaita Galega (bagpipes) Molly Gage - Fiddle Craig Farrell - Guitar Dan Berry - Didgeridoo Patrick MacQuarrie - de Jimbe, Bodhran, Snare Production Dave Trenkel Artwork Beth Barnett contact info: rob_gandara@alum.mit.edu +1 541 829 3016
