Naturally soulful chops, coupled with an intuitive sense of melody, produced an irresistible, organic sound. After a career as a fashion model, Falconer appeared in several films including; Short Cuts, (Robert Altman 1993), The Last Party (Mark Benjamin 1993), Mr. Bluesman (Snake Wortman 1993), Pirates (Noah Stern 1991), Brotherhood of the Gun (Vern Gillum 1991), The Doors (Oliver Stone 1991) and The Wrong Guys (Danny Bilson 1988), before embracing her true musical calling. Her eclectic body of work is the result of an eclectic life experience interpreted as compelling lyrics born of an ability to communicate simple, universal human truth as artfully crafted poetry and melody. Deborah Falconer has emerged as a powerful live performer, cutting her teeth under the discerning glare Hollywood's savvy club goers. Giggling Non stop last five years in a wide range of Los Angeles venues including; The Viper Room, House Of Blues, Opium Den, Coffee House, Largo, The Troubadour, The Knitting Factory and Moomba in addition to New York clubs; Joe's Pub, The Cutting Room, and recently at the ultra visible Flaunt Magazine part at the W Hotel. Shortly after her critically acclaimed, high-profile appearance as a featured performer along with Aimee Mann, Sting, Elton John, Daniel Lanois, Beck and Red Hot Chili Peppers at the HSFC benefit in Silver Lake, Los Angeles hosted by Johnny Knoxville and Christina Ricci, Falconer hit the ground running with a decidedly evolved, slate of blues-influenced, enlightened pop songs. The new album 'Brave Like Me' is complete. The album was produced by Clark Stiles (Dandy Warhols), and will be released on May 1st, 2003 by Ravish Records. The line up includes; guitarist Goffrey Moore (Jonathan Brooke, The Dust Brothers), superstar bass player Shaun Davis (Nikka Costa), drummer Chris Cano (Citizen Cope), keyboard player Chris Joyner (Sheryl Crow, The Wall Flowers) and back up singer Lonnie Martinez. This rare collective of talent united with Falconer's words and music has resulted in a musical marriage imbued with an elegiac sense of pathos rarely achieved so early in what promises to be a long and meaningful career.
