

Mp3 Emily Kaitz - Living The Wrong Way

Quirky, irreverent, mostly humorous original songs about Feng Shui, jaywalking, golf, what to do or not do in the sauna, and a bunch of other oddball subjects in musical styles ranging from country to rhumba, bluegrass to ballads. 11 MP3 Songs FOLK: Modern Folk, COUNTRY: Country Folk Details: This is Emily's most recent CD, and once again features a variety of impressive side musicians, such as the legendary Drifty Texarkana on pedal steel, Oklahoma City piano virtuoso Louise Goldberg, and a cameo appearance by Keith Grimwood Ezra Idlet (Trout Fishing in America). The title song, "Living The Wrong Way," is not recommended for anyone who takes Feng Shui completely seriously. As usual, no subject is safe from Emily's irreverence, be it pedestrian traffic violation ("Jaywalking"), recommended behavior for sauna attendees ("Don't Gossip in the Sauna") or the pitfalls of home car ownership (the frightening finale, "Maintenance Nightmare," a portion of which was aired on the syndicated NPR show "Car Talk" on September 13, 2003). Four of the songs were recorded in Hendersonville, TN (outside Nashville) with Fred Bogert, musician/engineer extraordinaire and producer of Grammy-nominated duo "Trout Fishing in America." The rest were recorded in 2 different studios in Fayetteville, Arkansas. If you have loved Emily's other albums you won't want to miss this one!
