It's gonna be worth it working it out... I don't want to tell you doubts I have in me I don't want to bring them to actuality Maybe I just don't want to lose you But working it out isn't easy It's gonna be worth it living in a better time than now It's gonna be worth it doing the best that we know how It's gonna be worth it working it out It's gonna be worth it working it out When we fight each other, baby, when we disagree When nobody's listening and nobody can see No matter how long you've know somebody You never know them completely It's gonna be worth it living in a better time than now It's gonna be worth it doing the best that we know how It's gonna be worth it working it out It's gonna be worth it working it out Running away would be easier than learning to stay Could I live with myself every day Wipe the slate clean Forget what you mean, forget what you've been Forget where we've been, forget what we've dreamed Ah but I have a feeling that It's gonna be worth it working it out...
