Details: Plaid Penmanship is the newest and final incarnation of Ian Hoffmans live band, formerly known as Lucent Man. They are a mix of pop/rock/jazz/indie/electronica and just about everything else in between. This makes for great songs that are unique but still easy to sing along to in your head. Citing influence from Danny Elfman, Beck, Stepehn Malkmus, Love, Talking Heads, Elliot Smith, Frank Zappa and many more, Plaid is an energetic, original, exciting group. Just one listen and you will be a Plaid disciple for life. Ian has changed formats and members over the years, but his relentless outpouring of music has remained, and he is on a prolific streak that seems to have no end in site. His music embodies many influences but still remains his own. His unique songwriting, less-than-standard voice, and bewildering lyrics make Plaid Penmanship what it is. Pairing various moods with thought-provoking instrumentation give you a band that will never go stale. Formed by lead singer/songwriter/rhythm guitarist/keyboardist Ian Hoffman 3 years ago, Plaid Penmanship crosses genre borders to satisfy most music snobs. Ian is joined in the group by bass player and occasional back-up vocalist Matt Ginsberg (you may have seen him playing mandolin with Dungen at their last Chicago show). Keyboardist and only member with a masters degree Kevin Goss. Legendary drummer/percussion (and older brother of Ian) Bill Hoffman. Lead guitar by Keith Schell (formerly of Dirty Love and others). Do yourself a favor and check them out today.
