Political/statement music with a sense of hope and humor 12 MP3 Songs FOLK: Political, FOLK: Modern Folk Details: Well-versed in an assortment of moods and styles, Hali Hammer is an award winning singer-songwriter who enjoys writing and playing a wide variety of music. She has sung and played for peace and political causes for over three decades and is an active member of Freedom Song Network. Her diverse work (and play) have made her comfortable performing with all age groups, from preschoolers to senior citizens. "In the current political climate, I felt it was important to make a statement and record songs that reflect my stand for peace and to share my political views. I also think it's important in trying times not to forget that humor carries a strong message, and I wanted the album to reflect that as well. The title song, "I Refuse to Believe", shows my hope that no matter what, I refuse to believe that good will not triumph." - Hali Hammer
