Though his opponents arm themselves heavily with verbal skill and wit, each finds himself standing amidst the dust trails of Ishues' signature delivery and journalistic poetry, muted only by ear-deafening reception. Ishues' impressive resum unveils a slew of championship titles. He is the three-time champion of the prolific MC Warz, and the current MC Warz Heavyweight Freestyle Southern Underground Champion. He holds three Mic Aggression titles as well as the Lyrical Warfare title. Ishues is a magnet for challenges; every show ends not only with the resounding applause from appreciative fans, but also with numerous approaches by MC's, unable to suppress their urge to cipher with the lyrical master. Ishues' no-holds-barred approach to narration lends itself to documenting the day-to-day combats of the social underdog. Ishues' reputation as a force to be reckoned with promptly gained momentum with each battle won. Producers Hano Leathers and Jorma Starratt instantly took notice of his formidable skills, and the stage was set for what was to be a revelation in hip-hop history. As the backbone of the Herb and Skills collective, Ishues rushes out of the gates with skillfully woven stories, precise and rife with description. On February 3, 2004 Ishues' debut record, reality flow, was released on Attica Sound LLC. His adeptness at language manipulation and meticulous word-phrasing provide a vivid canvas for storytelling, and has earned reality flow the #1 spot of Atlanta's WRAS 88.5 national rotation playlist for the week ending March 13th. Since Ishues' return from the 2004 SXSW Music Festival in Austin, TX, he has kept busy opening up for Def Jux and The Roots in Athens, GA, and is now gearing up for a performance at the 2004 Music Midtown Festival in Atlanta, GA.
