This show toured two years later, playing soldout houses at Radio City Music Hall, Garden State Arts Center and similar venues across the Northeast. Eight tours of Japan quickly ensued, with time out to produce the CD "Some Like It Hot" on Redhot Records. The band's second CD release, "Burning", also on Redhot Records, was produced a few years later by jazz legend Teo Macero. The band has toured Europe and the USA numerous times in support of these recordings.
