I set up a table at a local chamber of commerce trade-show. It cost about $20 and was a small casual event. I did one little show at my table and was hired by the district marketing manager for a shopping center to perform at their national conference. That booking led to a national tour, which led to more bookings and business for small, easy to operate profit streams that I set up to compliment my performing business. Why do I tell you this? Because this is just a small example of similar events that I will break down and explain in detail for you so you can duplicate my success.
