His brother, Dana Paul now deceased, (16 or 17 years old at the time) shared a bedroom. His brother worked a summer job and while he was away G-P would stay at home with his mom. Well one day G-P was in their bedroom. His brother had a boom box and told him never to touch it. Well G-P touched it anyway and pushed the play button. NWA's song "Express Yourself" started blasting out of the speakers.....and from that day forward G-P has been hooked on rap/hip-hop/r&b ever since. He started writing basic rhymes from that day forward. He completed the "On The Level" album in 2004 when he got out of the military but he just never could find a way to get his music heard....but he's got people now, twitter, myspace, facebook, cdbaby and an album full of hits. He did a lot of rapping on the album, singing and the music production. Jon Denney of the Denney Music Group (now in Nashville, TN) recorded, engineered, mixed, mastered and co-produced some of the music on the album at Neon Cactus Studios in Akron, Ohio. Every song on the album is commercial radio ready. G-P said he doesn't use cuss words in any of his music because he's got something to say and he knows how to express himself. G-P said, "I love to entertain people...I am a hard working man, with an excellent, fine wife, kids and really good job. Some of my music was inspired by friends, personal experiences and some is fiction. I'm an entertainer, a business man...not a street thug or gangsta as what I portray in my songs (not anymore at least)...but I will guarantee you this...you will not be disappointed in my album because it is much better than what you are used to hearing daily on the radio." G-P said he doesn't freestyle because he thinks it is a waste of time and it is not a true element of hip-hop. G-P said, " I'm a songwriter and rhyming poet...what I do is called rap music...period." -K.Miah (Manager)
