Mp3 Jason Roseman And Tropical Gems - International Gems

This CD is a beautiful combination of mainly Caribbean, Brazilian music with a sprinkling of pop and a funk track included as well. Fever, the name for a popular calypso from Trinidad was introduced to this CD to balance the Trinidad/Brazil flavor 9 MP3 Songs WORLD: Reggae, JAZZ: Bossa Nova Details: Instrumentation Jason Rosemaan - Steel Drums/ Vocals George Breiter - Drums/Vocals/ Anthony Caramadre - Bass/Vocals Fredrick Woodard - Guitar Biography When Jason Roseman founded Tropical Gems back in 2002 his plan was to showcase his talent as a song writer and entertainer on his beloved steel drums. He makes the drums he performs on at every gig. This band has come a long way to achieving his goal. Originally from Trinidad and Tobago Jason now living in Rhode Island has teamed up with fellow musicians from the Ocean State, Anthony Caramadre and George Breiter. He also included the influence of Fredric Woodard and Stephen Fell from Iowa and Connecticut to refine a Calypso, Reggae, Jazz sound that has been well received in the New England states for the past couple years. Tropical Gems play their infectious brand of music regularly at weddings, private parties, corperate functions and clubs; their unique style sets them apart from other ordernary bands. Jason Roseman and Tropical Gems consists of steel drums, Keyboard, acoustic/electric guitar, acoustic/electric Bass, acoustic drummer , assorted percussion instruments and vocals. This band has been ifluenced by many well known acts including Bob Marley and the Wailers, Carlos Santana and Duke Elnghton to name a few. Jason also has been influenced by his all time favorite steel drummer, Robert Greenidge, who plays with Jimmy Buffets "Coral Reef Band". One of the tracks 'Prelude' can be heard on the California based "One Way Magazines" April/ May issue compilation CD. One Way Magazine features Indipendent musicians and bands in the US. This track is a collaboration by Tropical Gems.

Similar manuals: