Details: Singer/Songwriter Leila Lopez was born in Tucson, Az. Growing up in a very musical family, Leila quickly learned how to play the guitar by listening and watching her father. In grade school, Leila began learning how to play the Cello, and a bit of theory, broadening her knowledge of the musical world. After realizing her true dedication to music, Leila went on to learn other instruments such as drums, bass guitar, flutes, hand percussion and violin. Leila records and produces all of her albums at home with a small four track recorder and a computer, and has been distributing her albums with no outside help. Her music resembles Folk with a light Jazzy feel and has percussive latin influence at times. Leila is currently planning a west coast tour and working on a new album.
