Electronic music for the cybernetic masses. 18 MP3 Songs ELECTRONIC: Dance, ELECTRONIC: Experimental Details: Future:Komp is proud to announce the official release of its long-awaited CD compilation. After two years of scouring the ever-expanding cyberspace, we have compiled a collection 16 artists from 11 countries to school us on the best in Chip, Electro, Techno, Astro-Funk, and other Cybernetic Hi-Jinks. This collection is a must for Galactic travelers and synth-fetishists everywhere! The CD includes previously unreleased tracks by Michael Una, Jeremy Bible, Kendall Station, Starpause, Qwertypak, Philip Linde, RA-X, Prosper Prowano, Starpause, Bryantist, and many more. This is some of the most innovative music by some of the strangest individuals. Starting out slow and atmospheric, Michael Una and Kendall Station provide a great soundtrack for lift-off into Galaxy-Knows-Where, only to be kicked high into Funk-a-Tron and space-shooter mode with Philip Linde's 1984 and OKFox's 'Shoot that Ship'. From there the ride gets more varied. Ranging from the hard elektro sound of RA-X's 'Stop Feeding The Machine' to downright chippy 8bit tunes by Qwertypak (rocking the Gameboy) and Starpause (rocking who the hell knows).
