Sinister electronic arrangements overloaded with chaotic sound structures, murderous samples and haunted by tortured screaming vocals. 13 MP3 Songs ELECTRONIC: Industrial, METAL: Industrial Metal Details: MindFluxFuneral creates Industrial of crowded, convulsive, and noisy synth design, heavy on the pumping beats and overflowing with intense vocals. "Hatred" is a haven for aggro-stomp, heel crunching percussion and furiously steel-wool massaging the larynx, distorted vocals; the appropriately titled Antipathy Remix deletes the vocals, turning it into a belligerent, beat brutalizing beast. "Melting Spirit" lurks around the perimeter, waiting for the moment to plunge the synth knife, a sudden burst of noise amidst the songs devious, subcutaneous trip-hop pacing. "Wind and Dust" loop's a sirens wail synth, the overlying bounce of the looping rhythm and course, finger pointing vocals (obnoxiously jabbing) creating a nervous aggression. "God's Eye" resides in the eye of a flaming tornado, pelvis thrust percussion trying to thrust the listener out of the chaos. I hear a bit of Ministry in the vocals or general aggression, but it's not rip-off; rather it's a ripping good time. (above review by Outburn Magazine)
