We find and kill the perfect pop song, take it home put it in the freezer. Then we high-five each other. 13
MP3 Songs POP: Power Pop, POP: Beatles-pop Details: This is the debut long-player from Los Angeles's The World Record. The World Record ambassadors: Andy Creighton Aaron Ballard Randy Guss You'll also hear: Ted Schumacher on trumpet (tracks 1 3) Will Courtney on harmony vocals and guitar (track 3) Bruce Bodeen of Not Lame Recordings says: "This one is going to blow a lot of you away and, eventually, end up on your Top of the Year list. The World Record has so much classic pop stylings its hard to know where to begin. There's not one bad or merely average track here, it all hits big, hits dead-center. Stacks of great harmonies, refreshing, unusual slippery hooks and clever arrangements on every song. BIG TIME Extremely Highly Recommended!" Also be sure to check out Andy Aaron's pre-World Record solo efforts, available at theworldrecord.net. Randy's previous efforts are to be found under "Toad the Wet Sprocket", available anywhere fine music is purveyed, including that record store down the street that just closed. So have a listen! If you don't like what you hear, we'll refund the time you spent listening. The memories you can keep free of charge. Also, drop by theworldrecordsometime. Love, The World Record
